

It Was a Conspiracy.

A Score of People Connected With the Cronin Murder.

THREE INDICTMENTS FOUND.

Detective Daniel Coughlin, P. O. Sullivan and Frank Black, alias Woodruff, held to answer for the crime by a special grand jury.

Cincinnati, May 26.—The grand jury yesterday evening after a session of nearly ten hours, indicted Detective Daniel Coughlin, P. O. Sullivan, the Lake View ice dealer, and Frank Black, alias Woodruff, for the wilful murder of Dr. P. H. Cronin. Black is the man arrested for stealing the white horse rig in which the physician was driven to his death, and who told a woolly story regarding Dr. Cronin having been taken to attend the woman whose body, as he claimed, was afterward hidden in the trunk.

Over a score of witnesses, including both personal and political friends of the murdered man were examined, but no evidence was introduced to prove a conspiracy, and the private papers about which so much has been said were kept from the body. As a result of the investigation it was decided by a unanimous vote to include the three persons in one indictment of three counts, one charging them with killing Dr. Cronin with a blunt instrument, the second alleging the use of a sharp instrument, and the third with "instruments and means unknown."

Proving a Conspiracy.

The indictments were returned to Judge Williamson and the jury released for the night. States Attorney Longenecker said subsequently that the question of a conspiracy was not investigated in any form and that the matter would not be taken up again by the present body. It is said on absolute authority that the police are only just beginning to get an insight into the magnitude of the conspiracy. All along they have been working on the theory that it was confined to a few. Within the last twenty-four hours, however, they have come into possession of information that places it beyond the shadow of a doubt that at least a score of individuals were connected, directly or indirectly with the diabolical affair.

Alexander Sullivan Under Surveillance.

Among these, it is said, are eight of the most prominent Irish nationalists in the city. These are being shadowed day and night, not so much with the view of any immediate arrest, but, as the police put it, "the better to subserve the interests of justice." Among the best and most widely known of the eight is Alexander Sullivan, the ex-president of the Irish Land League of America. He is probably the best watched man in Chicago to-day. Shadowing infest the lobby of the Chicago opera house building, in which his offices are located, they follow him. The corridor they dog his footsteps when he goes across to the court house, and they have his house on Oak street under surveillance. Only when cloaked in his office or when in the parlor of his home is he free from their gaze.

Chief of Police Hubbard has practically admitted that he was responsible for this espionage, but he declined to say upon what grounds it was based, although he hinted that it was done to satisfy Cronin's friends. Almost in the same breath he said that of all the stream of direct evidence that had been poured in upon him there was not a single fact that pointed in the slightest degree to him in the Cronin case.

The friends of the latter, and their names being legion, take the ground that he is being outrageously persecuted. He is, they say, being made a mark of by men who have been opposed to him for years in social societies, and who are now only too willing to take advantage of the present excitement to identify him with the crime in the public mind.

Damaging Evidence Against Sullivan.

John Carlson and his wife, who own the cottage in which Dr. Cronin was murdered, gave some startling testimony to the grand jury. They testified that Frank Williams, the mysterious stranger who rented the cottage, after paying the first month's rent in advance, and taking a receipt for it, went directly to the house of Sullivan and entered it by the rear door. When the second month's rent became due Williams again made his appearance at the Carlson house, paid the rent, and as before went to Sullivan's house, where he was met by Sullivan at the rear door. The two men stood in plain view of the Carlsons. Williams put his hand in his pocket, produced a piece of paper, supposed to be the receipt for the rent, which he handed to Sullivan. The fee man looked at it and produced a roll of bills, counted out a certain amount and handed it to Williams. The entire transaction was observed by both Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, positively sworn to and maintained through a rigid cross-examination.

An Important Discovery.

As William J. Smith was leaving the court room after the grand jury session he was recognized by Frank Scanlan, the last friend who saw Dr. Cronin alive, as the unknown man who drove away with the murdered man in the buggy handled by the white horse on the fatal Saturday night. Mr. Scanlan took a long look at Smith and declared he could not be mistaken. This information was given to Capt. Schaeck. A consultation was held but it was decided not to arrest Smith at this time. Smith is the man who claimed last Sunday that he was the Smith referred to by Detective Coughlin as his friend from Michigan.

A Diplomatic Excursion on the Steamer Dispatch.

A VISIT TO MOUNT VERNON.

The Trip Given in Honor of Sir Julian Pauncefote, the New British Minister.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Secretary Blaine spoiled a cabinet meeting yesterday. On his invitation many prominent persons went down to Mount Vernon on the United States steamship Dispatch. The excursion was given in honor of Sir Julian Pauncefote, the new British minister, and as Mr. Blaine and Secretaries Tracy, Windom and others were not in the party, there were not enough members of the cabinet left to transact business.

The Dispatch Left Her Wharf at 12:30

O'clock, having on board representatives of all the foreign legations, nearly all the state department officials and a number of other prominent persons. The day was cool but not too cool for comfort.

The President Will Go to Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The president has accepted an invitation to attend the memorial services at Brooklyn. During his stay in Brooklyn will remain at the residence of Gen. Joseph N. Knapp. The president will return from Brooklyn Thursday night, leaving immediately after the conclusion of the ceremonies. The arrangement for the trip is in charge of Secretary Tracy.

Visitors at the White House.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Yesterday was a dull day at the White House. There were very few visitors. By special invitation the president saw the delegates to the Swedishborg conference, now in session in this city. The postponement of the cabinet meeting on account of the absence of three members on the diplomatic excursion, gave him a chance to attend to his desk work without interruption, and he transacted a great deal of business before luncheon time.

Sails for Alaska.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The United States steamer Thetis sailed from Tacoma, Wash., for Sitka, Alaska, yesterday. She will cruise in Alaskan waters until further orders, with a view to prevent the illegal killing of fur-bearing animals.

Peace Begins in Samoa.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Admiral Kimberly reports to the navy department under date of May 27, that the Samoan natives are disbanding, and that peace prevails.

BOLD ABDUCTORS.

A Richly Dressed Woman Overpowered by Two Men and Carried Away.

WICHITA, Kan., May 26.—Last evening an unknown woman while walking in the most aristocratic part of the city was bound and gagged by two men, who carried her away in a covered carriage. Her cries attracted the attention of two bankers who were on the street, and the only witnesses to the occurrence. Before they could reach her the men were out of sight around the corner.

SOLDIERS AND ITALIANS.

Colours Mined at Bradwood, Illinois, Being Arrested.

BRADWOOD, Ill., May 26.—Eight companies of the Fourth Illinois National guards have pitched their tents on the Chicago, Wilmington and Vermillion coal lands at the "J" shaft, and are now raiding the Italian quarters. Twenty-five Italians have been arrested. On their persons were found knives and revolvers. It is asserted that the Italians are rallying at Godley, Coal City, Clark City, Gardner and Bruceville for an attack upon the militia.

The plan of Col. Bennett is to attack the Italian settlements in detail before they can rally. Great activity is noted in the Italian quarters here, and crowds are seen gathering. It is not unlikely they will attempt the rescue of the men arrested. Residents here say the Italians mean fight, and that they don't care for their lives. The whistles blew for work in shaft "J" this morning, but no miners went to work.

Fought Thirteen Rounds.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—La Blanche, the Marine, and Mike Lucie, of Troy, fought the first of a series of contests for the middle-weight championship of America, here last night. La Blanche had the best of the fight throughout, though Lucie got in some good blows, and gained first blood in the third round. La Blanche knocked Lucie out in the thirteenth round.

Fire at Cleveland, Ohio.

Session of the Presbyterian General Assembly Closed.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE MEETING.

Saratoga Selected as the Next Meeting Place.—A Committee Appointed to Call President Harrison's Attention to the Slave Traffic in Africa—Other Transactions of the Assembly.

New York, May 26.—Immediately after the reading of the minutes at yesterday's session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, Dr. Crosby took the floor and asked that his protest against the temperance resolution be stricken from the record. He declared that his only object in opposing the resolution was to prevent his congregation from being drawn into the political arena. He then presented a resolution setting forth that the action taken on the temperance question must not be construed as endorsing a political party. The resolution was vociferously applauded and unanimously adopted.

The order of the day, the report of the special committee on education was then taken up and discussed. Rev. Dr. Henry McCook, of Philadelphia, said he did not agree with the committee's condemnation of the practice of entering young men under 25 years upon collegiate studies. He was of the opinion that young men could not be introduced into the ministry at too early a day. He urged the appointment of a committee of seven to consider the question of increasing the number of ministers. Rev. D. T. S. Hamilton, of Washington, supported Dr. McCook in his efforts for the appointment of a committee. A motion was carried with instructions to report at the next assembly on the best method of introducing ministers into the church. Dr. S. J. Nicol was appointed chairman.

Rev. Dr. Thompson, of the centennial fund committee, reported that the money raised for the support of disabled ministers would by June 1 reach $816,000. He recommended the investment of the money in first mortgages on railroads paying dividends and other property.

The Rev. Dr. W. Stryker, of Chicago, offered a resolution calling the attention of President Harrison to the slave traffic in Africa, and praying for a conference with the foreign powers for the purpose of devising some means for abolishing the same. The resolution was adopted. The vote standing the question raised by the New Jersey synod in regard to the regular organization of a church, was reconsidered, and the matter referred to a committee of five.

The report of the judiciary committee was then taken up. The case of Rev. Dr. West against the synod of Minnesota was postponed for a year, after a rather warm colloquy between Dr. West and Dr. Dickey.

A motion approving the bill setting apart for educational purposes the money obtained from the sale of Crook and Seminole lands was voted down.

The moderator announced Drs. Crosby, Hamilton, Dickey, Wade, Foster and Allison as the committee to visit President Harrison on the African slavery question.

A KANSAS TORNADO.

Many Persons Killed and Mangled, and Much Property Destroyed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 26.—A Times special from Emporia, Kan., reports that a disastrous tornado passed over Clements, Chase county, thirty-two miles west of here, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Capt. Brown and his daughter were killed, and his wife had a leg broken. It is reported that six or seven other persons were killed, but the wires are all down, and no reliable information can be obtained.

John Pantle, conductor of a stock train, who arrived in Emporia at 9 o'clock last night, says he passed through Clements just after the storm, and in plain sight of part of its destructive doings. The cloud looked square-shaped, like a house with its lower portion surrounded by a white cloud looking like steam, which seemed to rise from all around the main dark cloud. As it came through the timber it cut a clean swath apparently destroying everything in its path, and when it struck the Cut-cum-water river it looked as if it was cutting through the river, piling up the water on both sides. He saw Capt. Brown's stone house totally demolished, another with the roof and one side torn off and still another lifted and carried out of its foundations.

He afterwards learned that the people in the latter house took to the cellar and escaped uninjured. The storm crossed the railroad in three places, and seemed to have made a partial circle, going over nearly the same path a second time. Pantle says its path was about fifty yards wide, and that there is little doubt of much damage and more deaths having occurred farther from the road. He left word at Strong City, and that there a special will be sent out with doctors and assistance.

A DISASTROUS FIRE.

Sixty Buildings Burned and Many Lives Lost—Other Foreign News.

VIENNA, May 26.—A disastrous fire has swept the town of Poduljice, in Austrian Galicia. Sixty houses, a church and a synagogue have been destroyed, and a large number of lives lost. Twelve bodies have been taken from the ruins, and workmen are excavating as rapidly as possible to reach others known to be buried.

Fire in a Steamer.

LONDON, May 26.—Fire was discovered on the Cunard line steamer Servis yesterday, upon her arrival at Liverpool. The fire was a small one, and caused little alarm, as it was found that only a few bales of cotton, composing part of the cargo of the forward hold, was smoldering. The fire might have been serious had the vessel been at sea and the danger not discovered promptly.

Differences Existing in the Conference.

LONDON, May 26.—The News' Berlin correspondent reports that disagreement has arisen on an important point in the Samoan conference. The matter at issue is probably the German indemnity claims, and the prospect for an early close of the conference is considered less favorable.

Result of the Riot.

BERLIN, May 26.—In the riot which occurred Monday night a gendarme was killed, a lieutenant badly wounded and a colonel commanding some of the military was dragged from his horse by the mob and maltreated. The troops, however, were not allowed to fire upon the rioters.

Perrin Sentenced.

PARIS, May 26.—Perrin, the man who fired a blank cartridge at President Carnot on May 5, as the latter was leaving the Elysee to attend the celebration of the centenary of the revolution at Versailles, was yesterday sentenced to four months' imprisonment.

STORM ON LAKE ONTARIO.

A Number of Vessels Wrecked and Probably Some Lives Lost.

KESWICK, Ont., May 26.—A violent southwesterly gale set in about midnight Monday night, and is still blowing but has moderated somewhat and veered to the westward. Monday afternoon the steamer Teanum left Collins bay with the barges Cameron, Wort and Cavalier for the Welland canal. They had discharged timber at Collins bay, and were going back to Lake Superior for more. The trip was successful until 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when a stiff gale began to drive them. The velocity kept getting greater. The captain of the Teanum came to the conclusion that to proceed would be perilous. He righted his boats and let two of them go, one kept under him. The boats reached here yesterday afternoon.

The captain reports that when he reached the main docks he saw the steamer D. D. Calvin and tow laden with timber. They seemed to be in trouble. The barges were away from the steamer and no sailors seemed to be in charge. The barges seemed damaged and an empty yawl was on one of them. The schooner Neelon, from Toledo, put in here yesterday. She had lost some canvas and was leaking badly. The Norway, one of the Calvin's tow, reached Garden Island last night under sail. She reports her compass weathering the gale well.

Barges Wrecked.

POTOS, Ont., May 26.—A heavy gale swept over Lake Ontario last night, and it is expected much damage to shipping was done. The keeper of the point, Peter Light, reports three barges loaded with lumber ashore there and into pieces. It is feared the gales will all be lost. The life saving station at Wellington has sent assistance.

To the Business Men of Marion.
A number of patriotically inclined citizens are endeavoring to arrange for a grand centennial celebration to be held in this city July 10, and in recognition of the undisputed success which crowned our efforts at a Fourth of July celebration two years ago, they have requested us to lend our experience and aid at this time. We have consented only on condition that the business men and all others interested will give us their hearty financial aid and support.
It requires money, and plenty of it, to get up a grand celebration, but with the reputation Marion now enjoys for Fourth of July celebrations, the money given would be well invested and would give good interest, as the crowd which would surely come here would leave Marion several thousand dollars ahead. Now if the business men (for they are the ones who will reap the harvest) will give us their financial support, and this cheerfully, we will promise that Marion will have a celebration far ahead of anything in the past. The committee will call upon you, so be even more liberal than you were two years ago, for unless a sufficient sum to insure creditable celebration can be raised there will be no celebration at all.
Respectfully,
COM. OF TWO YEARS AGO.

Washington's Namesakes.
"Down to the latest syllable of recorded time," exclaimed the orator at the centennial celebration, "ever favored, 'The people of America who honor his memory! Who is not proud to bear the name of George Washington and grateful to the parents that conferred it upon him? I wonder," he continued, looking around him with flashing eyes, "how many of George Washington's namesakes there are in this vast assembly.
Will those whose privilege it is to bear that honored name please rise to their feet?"

"Sixty-seven men and boys rose up."
"Well those of you who cannot tell a lie," said the editor of the village paper, notebook in hand, "please remain standing while I count!"
And sixty-seven men and boys at once sat down.—Chicago Tribune.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt is very fond of horses, dogs and cats.

Miss Emily Faithfull now gets a pension of $250 a year from the English government.

A school dealing with social and political questions has been opened for women in Copenhagen.

Mrs. Emma Marcy Raymond, it is said, has lost nearly $15,000 through the failure of her opera, "Doretta."

A Tacoma, W. T., woman who was arrested because she lay down and rolled herself in the mud.

Mrs. Mackay, of bonanza fame, who has dazzled Europe with her splendor, has a dress with $50,000 worth of real pearls on it.

A Mendocino widow, whose husband died seventeen years ago, has received $2 consolation money anonymously from Cleveland, O., of the same being interest.

Helen Chidmore, the daughter of the noted Scottish divine, lives in one of the lowest parts of Edinburgh, devoting her life to reclaiming girls and women of the street.

Miss Nettie Holliday, who is visiting Mrs.
Harrison at the White House, has been for the last six years a philanthropist at Tehran, Persia, and will soon return thither. She is an old time comrade of Mrs. Harrison.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bloodworth, an old lady who lives in Taylor county, Ga., is an intemperate smoker. A few mornings ago she fell down and jolled her feet upon a nail nearly through to the back of her neck.

Mrs. Ophelia Scott Reid, the once famous southern authoress, now living in New York, although in good health is rarely seen on the street. She is a charming woman and should be a great addition to the literary circles of that city.

Princess Victoria Kaiulani, eventually heir to the throne of Hawaii, is going to England in June next with a small suite for the purpose of finishing her education. She is about 14, and is expected to remain in England for a couple of years.

Baltimore girls are chuck full of grit. One of them recently accepted a wager to walk along the principal street of Baltimore arm in arm with a young man clad in rough working clothing. She won the bet, and then had her picture taken with him.

Mrs. Pauline Fuller Aubrey, the newly married daughter of the chief justice, has been lately taken in by a Chicago swindler, who represented himself as a custom house employee and collected money for laundry goods to be delivered after payment.

One of the most remarkable feats in modern journalism was achieved by Mrs. Isabella B. Barrows, of Boston. She wrote a veritable report of a speech made in German by Carl Schurz, which she turned into English while her pen was flying across her paper in typographic characters.

Mrs. Langtry has telegraphed to the manager of the Gaiety theatre, Dublin, inquiring as to vacancies next autumn, when she hopes to return to Europe and play in the Irish capital. A reply has been sent that the Gaiety will be glad to dispose of a few of its seats for the end of October.

Mary B. Russell, a sister of the Sir Charles Russell who made so eloquent a defense of Jarnell, was the pioneer Sister of Mercy on the Pacific coast. She came to California from Ireland in 1854. She has at present under her charge a hospital, a Magdalen asylum and schools near San Francisco.

Woman's right to clothe herself in masculine garments is fast being recognized in Paris. Formerly it was prohibited, but is now tolerated by the police, and it is regarded as permissible in high social circles.
One well known authoress is said to exhibit herself almost every day on the boulevards in the disguise of a man.

FOOTGEAR OF NATIONS.

In the Ninth and Tenth centuries the common form of shoe in Europe was the wooden shoe.

The Egyptians had soles or sandals made ordinarily of leather, but sometimes of palm leaves or papyrus.

Chinese persons of rank wear boots with thick soles and legs of fine cloth or silk that reach half way up to the knee.

The Japanese in their houses wear light shoes or slippers, with woven soles without leaves, or else go in their stocking feet.

Wooden shoes, or sabots, are worn now among the peasants in many countries in Europe. Their advantage is in their cheapness and durability.

Among the southern Indians, where no protection is needed from the cold, a shoe is made consisting simply of a sole of thick hide bound on the sides by flanges.

There are a variety of boots and shoes used in China. The common shoe is made of thick, heavy felt, with a stiff thicker sole made of woven straw or layers of felt.

In the sixteenth century boots were generally worn in England and France and the boots of the cavaliers were made with enormously wide tops, that were rolled or folded over.

One of the simplest forms of shoes is that worn in Singapore and India. It is merely a wooden sole, with raised heel and toe and a paw-paw in front. The shoe is adjusted with this peg between the big toe and its neighbor and the shoe is held on by a number of cords or laces.

WOMAN'S WEAR.
Mauve and violet are favorite colors in millinery.

Bede with a shade of pink in it is one of the newest stylish colors.

A new fancy for dust and rain cloaks is to have the body of plain stuff and the long, full sleeves of figured.

Hardly a French bonnet is seen without some admixture of gold either in the bonnet itself or in the trimming.

Some of the most important bonnet crowns embroidered in metal cost a good deal more than their weight in gold.

Parasols out of paraisols of half silk, half velvet, together with other made of alternate strips of watered silk and black lace.

French milliners are trying hard to bring in face trimming, either a bow or bunch of flowers under the edge of the bonnet brim.

Parasol handles are longer than for years.
Action of many of them fold in the middle after the fashion of our grandmothers.

Parisian bonnets are now so round and flat that a veil detracts a woman to be stylish, must sit on her head piece before putting on.
To be stylish the new flat red woolen jackets must be worn over loose silk skirts of soft color, with here and there a touch of the red.

A pretty fancy seen upon a low, black lace gown was straps of the open work jet, passed over and under the arm, and seeming to hold the white folds in place.

White petticoats are used for street wear.
Instead of one of black silk edged with black lace or of light silk with three pinked ruffles around it.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

ELECTRIC NOTES.

Vancouver hopes soon to have the telephone and electric railway.

Sweden and Norway are said to lead in progress made in telephone communication.

Powerful interrupted voltaic currents have recently been used in surgery to arrest the growth of cancer.

Experiments show that it does not pay to use rails for electric roads weighing less than fifty pounds per yard.

Electric light equivalents in illuminating power to 100,000 candles will be used in lighting the Paris exhibition.

The subson of Birmingham palace, famous for the three supercrystal chandeliers which it contains, is now lighted by electricity.

The storage system of electricity, in spite of the various conversions of energy, has a superiority of at least 25 per cent. over cables.

The capital of Arragon in Spain is shortly to have a central station which will be more than a mile from the town, power to be supplied from turbines.

All Russian ships of war are to be lighted exclusively by electricity, and by January next the whole of the Russian fleet will be lighted by that means.

The electric light let down in the fish nets used between the Isle of Man and Anglesey attracts the crabs and other creatures of the deep in large numbers.

A bill has been reported to the legislature in Massachusetts which is to prevent a system of overhead wires for electric roads in cities of over 100,000 inhabitants.

It is claimed that there is no apparatus for the transmission of energy that compares in simplicity and efficiency with the dynamo-electric machine and the electric motor.

A Portland, Ore., man examined an electric motor recently and said it worked absolutely. The motor had just been varnished.

In the new types of resistances and switches introduced by M. Deprez for high tension currents to use pure water as the commu-tator. There is no sparking, as the metals do not touch.

Thirty-four per cent. of horse railroad companies have decided on using electricity in some form—conduit, storage or overhead—and of this number about one-third are for the overhead system.

Secrecy in telephone communication is said to be secured by the new method of dividing the transmitting current so that one portion may be sent over one line and the remainder over another line.

Abroad they have also reached the conclusion that the constant and unavoidable accumulation of guests and the attending expenditures are the most serious questions in connection with placing wires under ground.

The tramway between the Quai d'Orsay and the Champ de Mars is to be used during the Paris exposition for the exhibition of various mechanical systems of traction, among which the electric motor will find a place.

From the present knowledge of the subject, should it be decided to run a telephone cable under the ocean, it has been calculated that the copper core would have the diameter of a flour barrel and the necessary insulation would be as large around as a log-saw.

ABOUT THIMBLES.

Two hundred years ago thimbles were unknown in England.

The high rank Chinese thimble always has a number of pearl case.

Gold, silver, iron, ivory, steel, pearl, shell, celluloid, rubber and even glass are utilized in making thimbles.

With the thimble the Chinese lady always has a delicate pair of scissors of the finest steel, in a sheath of pearl, and a pearl needle case.

Solid gold thimbles, elegantly carved, and frequently set with diamonds, are found now too good for many fashionable home decorations.

The wife of a prominent Brooklyn clergyman has a thimble that was carved from a precious stone she found on the shore of the Dead sea.

A well known New York society lady has a thimble made from asphaltum, the substance with which the sacred dress of Persia were built.

Thimbles made to order, with the monogram or initials of the person for whom they are intended set in precious stones, are by no means unknown objects of art.

A lady in Boston has a thimble made from a piece of the old Washington elm at Cambridge, the tree under which Washington stood when he took the oath as commander-in-chief in 1775.

The thimble is claimed by the Dutch as an invention of their country, but it is known that it was in use among the silk embroders of China hundreds of years before it was used elsewhere.

The queen of Siam has a thimble made of gold, in the form of a lotus bud, the lotus being the Siamese royal floral emblem, and thickly studded with diamonds, so arranged as to form the queen's name and the date of her marriage.

CURIOSITIES OF STRIKES.

A Philadelphia brewery wouldn't let its employees drink beer during working hours and the men all quit work. They are back now and drink all the beer they want.

Factory girls in a Massachusetts woolen mill laid off some time ago because the foreman insisted in keeping a picture of a white horse on his desk. Ten of the girls laid hair which was decidedly Auburn in color.

Ten men employed in a tanning factory at Dorchester, N. J., struck because their employers hired a black keeper who went into the tanning yard every noon and, sitting himself on a box, poked him the workmen and their "disgusting trade."

During the recent street car strike in St.
Paul a woman, wife of one of the striking drivers, appeared on the street where the crowd was waiting for the appearance of a "scalp" driven car, with an immense level of dirty water. "Let's put the scalp in the soup," she cried. The crowd took up the idea with enthusiasm and it took the police five minutes to keep it in bay while the "scalp" was hustled out of sight.

Just before the curtain rose for the performance of "Trovatore" in Milan the superintendence thirty in numbers announced that they would not go on unless their wages were increased one-third. The management promptly went to work and inside fifteen minutes had thirty raw recruits from the street at the stage doors. On seeing these the regular super, who had on their stage costumes, made a rush and escaped out into the street. For half an hour they were chased by the officers of the theatre, who finally shouted their willingness to come to terms.

Setting the Action to the Words.
The following is extracted from an address by the Bishop of Exeter, Dr. Magee to a class of candidates for ordination:
"Most of you," he said, "will do well to avoid action in the pulpit. I shall never forget a raw, loud, coarse, coarse, loud, with hands like less of Milton. I can see him still preparing for a grand re-creation, and leaning over the pulpit, with outstretched dependent palms, as he exclaimed, 'Praise me brethren, praise me—London Exchange."
A sensible suggestion.

Restaurant Proprietor to waiter—Well,
John, is the moon run all over?
Waiter—Yes, sir.
R. P.—Well, lets you and I go out somewhere and get something good to eat for dinner.—Boston Courier.

That an Object.
"My friend," he said, as he entered a shoemaker shop on Grand avenue, "I should like to sing you a song."
"How much you charge?"
"Not a cent."
"What if it is a song?"
"Very much. I am sure you will be pleased with it."
"Well, go ahead!"
The man drew a long breath and started off. It was an awful noise. "I was intended to lift the shoe-maker right off his bench. It did so, and after the first verse he said:
"Hurry up, you had some object!"
"I have my dear sir. While I don't charge anything for singing, I do charge twenty five cents to stop."

"See, well, I was going down to Spring-wells for his disfigurement. While I don't charge you to come in, I make you pay twenty cent to get out."

When he stepped out and looked the door, and for two hours the informant talked with an insurance broker the next day a lot of glass, and truly acknowledged that there were better games than his.—Detroit Free

A Bad Case of Triole.
We have our opinion of trioles in general and of this one, by William Wallace Cook, in particular.
When I am dead I do not care
To be in state and have my shoes
My soul will not be lying there
When I am dead I do not care
For marble cold. Just make my life
A grave, with handles on my gown.
When I am dead I do not care
To be in state and have my shoes.

Indeed, if we were to express our opinion of trioles in general, and of this one in particular, it would run somewhat thus:
Don't fret your gleamed, Willie, dear
Since we have read your triole,
We must be state alone your body,
Don't fret your gleamed, Willie, dear,
But just to live without a fear
And let us, if we can, forget.
Don't fret your gleamed, Willie, dear,
For we have read your triole.

—Auditor Clark was at Cleveland on Tuesday assisting in assessing the N. Y. & E. D. W. railway property. The main line was returned at $9000 per mile, the siding at $2500 per mile, the rolling stock at $4000 per mile, and the buildings in Marion county were put in at $3100.

—A little son of C. Neimeyer fell into one of the holes dug for the electric-light poles, and would have been drowned had it not been for a couple of small boys, that were playing with him at the time, who called and pulled the little fellow out. There was about two feet of water in the hole.

—Bart Fenton's friends will be delighted to know that he successfully passed the examination at the Cincinnati law school, and graduates today. It was feared that Bart's illness, and consequent absence from study and the lectures, would endanger his success, but he passed nicely and will arrive home tomorrow night, a full fledged attorney-at-law.

—Emerson Fies, a little three-year-old son of Chris. Fies, residing on north East street, met with an accident Monday afternoon which came near resulting fatally. By mistake, he drank a small quantity of gasoline, which he supposed to be water, and immediately became seriously ill. He continued to grow worse and for two hours was in a critical condition, but Dr. Crane, who had been summoned, succeeded in bringing him about all right.

—Bucyrus Forum: One of our attorneys reports a will which is on file in the probate office in Marion that is a little out of the ordinary and the spirit of which may seem somewhat inconsistent. It begins reverentially, "In the name of the Beneficent Father of all," but destroys the effects of this by a clause which reads as follows: "To my brother-in-law, John Smith, of Blank, I hereby bequeath and devise my scorn and contempt for his hypocrisy, duplicity and cowardice." The brother-in-law does not seem to be alone in his hypocrisy.

—Those who would eat strawberries in accordance with the latest rules of table etiquette, should observe that the stems go with the berries—that is to say, are placed on the table together. The berries and sugar should be served in separate small individual dishes, which are now made for the purpose. To eat them each berry is taken by the stem, dipped into the sugar and eaten from the fingers. This may not be as satisfactory as the old style, but is in the latest form; and besides, it saves the berries. With this plan you can serve a whole church congregation from a quart of berries and have a few left to send to the poor.

—Mr. and Mrs. Warner "At Home." Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Warner gave a reception to nearly an hundred of their friends Tuesday evening, at their home on Mr. Vernon avenue. The event was in honor of Miss Warner, of Medina, who has been their guest, and a more pleasant event could hardly be wished for. Mr. and Mrs. Warner received most cordially, and bade their guests a welcome that could not otherwise be put in words.

—Sociability prevailed during the early hours and the assembly proved not only affable but brilliant. The refreshments proved a happy transition from that delightful intercourse to cards, and euchre and whist were indulged in until the "good nights" were said.

SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT

Mrs. Sam'l Melody Leaves Husband and Home to Join Her Paramour, P. K. Reisher—Then, Whereabouts unknown.

For some days this has been a slight rumour of a sensational elopement, but on Tuesday the rumor was confirmed. We were not at hand to confirm it. There seems to be no doubt now, however, that Margaret Melody, wife of Sam'l Melody, has skipped out with P. K. Reisher, the well known horse buyer of Chambersburg, Pa.

Nearly five weeks ago Mrs. Melody ostensibly accompanied her daughter to a Pennsylvania School, and since their departure nothing has been heard of them. At the same time Mr. Reisher disappeared from his home in Chambersburg, Pa., and nothing has been heard from him since. These facts, together with the knowledge of their former relations, and also that Mrs. Melody took about $3000 in money and Reisher about $10,000, which he secured by mortgaging his property, leads to the inevitable conclusion that they have gone together.

Mr. Reisher, Reisher's partner, was in the city Tuesday, endeavoring to secure a trace of him, and had a long consultation with the deceased husband and numerous citizens. He was informed of the reason existing between the missing parties, of their former trips and escapades, and no doubt was left in his mind regarding the matter.

Mrs. Melody was a familiar person to nearly everyone here, from her numerous appearances on the street and her long residence, having been born and raised here. She was a large and apparently healthy, well formed woman, and rather comely, and her daughter, Eva, was an attractive little girl of about sixteen years. Heron is founded the most serious regret on account of the elopement, as it will inevitably lead to her ruin.

The deceased husband is a well known business man and was formerly county commissioner. He is an highly esteemed gentleman, provided a fine home for his wife and her daughter and was an intelligent husband, too indulgent in fact to see that he was extending the hospitality of his home to the man who has proven so low as to break it up.
